Walking On . . .

Meloney Rose Hause

Meloney Rose Hause, age 60, passed away in her hometown, Aberdeen, Washington on April 1, 2023.

Meloney was a fiercely independent, caring, and adventurous person. Her life revolved around family, friends, and her many (many) communities. She was an accomplished fisherwoman, hunter, diver, and shellfish harvester; she was always sharing indigenous foods like elk, fish, clams, and geoduck with her family and friends. She loved the outdoors and explored the world through travel to amazing places.

Born in Aberdeen on January 8, 1963 to “Jerry” Gerald S. Hause, and Lucille Cecelia (Martin) Hause, Meloney spent a majority of her early life in Taholah. She grew up as a child on the Quinault Indian Nation Reservation where she loved to watch canoe races, fish, dig clams, enjoy the Chief Taholah Days celebration, and hang out with her friends. She attended Taholah, Lake Quinault, and North Beach schools, where she participated in volleyball, basketball, and various other clubs and activities, earning the nickname “Spike.” She attended North Beach High School in 1981 and went on to attend Grays Harbor College, where she received her Associate in Science degree in fisheries and wildlife; later, she attended Cal Poly Humboldt and The Evergreen State College, again studying fisheries science and this time earning a Bachelor of Arts degree in Native American studies.

Meloney was a Squaxin Island tribal citizen and of Quinault and German descent. She enjoyed visiting with her relatives and many friends on the reservation, and was always in attendance at family functions. She loved cheering on her nephews and nieces while they were playing sports, often traveling quite far to watch them. Meloney was a lifelong learner and attended many courses, seminars, and meetings, including tribal education and membership meetings, Landmark Education courses, and drug and alcohol recovery support meetings. She was passionate about her sobriety and inspired many others to follow in those footsteps.

Meloney was sure to voice her opinion when a policy or political dispute arose. She was not shy about sharing her thoughts or her feelings, which was a blessing for everyone around her.

Influenced by Elders Nellie Ramirez and Vi Hilbert, Meloney was passionate about reviving her Tribe’s Lushootseed Language.

Meloney had a bigger-than-life personality and an even bigger heart. It is only fitting that she received the name ʔayəbalus, meaning “Laughing Eyes.”

Meloney was very spiritual, and she shared this with her girlfriends by providing assigned meditation reading when they traveled. She loved music. In her younger years you could hear the music blare with her favorites, Def Leppard, The Rolling Stones, and Journey; her head nodding to the beat as she drove along. Concerts were a must with her friends; they would patiently wait for Meloney to purchase a CD at every concert she attended.

Meloney’s work history reflects her independent nature. Never one for a conventional 9-5 job, she started out in fisheries working on salmon populations, and eventually became a certified diver and harvested geoduck. Meloney also owned a seasonal fireworks stand, “Beach Party Fireworks.” She worked for J&L Shake/Logging and was a student teacher in Nisqually for the Evergreen Reservation-Based program. Her volunteer work centered on the Squaxin Canoe Family Journeys, the Allottees’ Association of Affiliated Tribes of the Quinault Reservation, and service on the Little Creek Oversight Board, but she had a great deal of other volunteer work as well.

Meloney is survived by her brothers; Donald Joe Washburn Jr. of Hoquiam, Gary Hause of Kelso, Jerry Hause of Longview, Michael Hause of Kelso, Donald Reynolds of Grants Pass; sisters, Marilyn McFadden of Shelton and Sally Byrd of Vancouver, Washington; aunt, Lila Jacobs of Shelton; as well as numerous beloved nieces and nephews.

Meloney was preceded in death by her father, Gerald Hause; mother, Lucille Hause; brothers, Shayne Hause and Douglas Washburn; and sisters Charlene Capoeman, Suzy Reynolds, and Jessica Osbourne.

It was her request to not have a funeral service, but rather to have a life celebration dinner that was held at the Taholah Community Center on April 14, 2023, at noon.
Why should you vote?

• You should vote because you can.
• It sets a positive example to your children, your neighbors, and your friends.
• Voting represents your right to free speech. Never surrender your right to speak your mind via the vote on Election Day.
• Voting is an honor as well as a responsibility.
• You live in a democracy and that means that you get a say in WHO runs your Tribe and HOW the Tribe is run.
• Voting shows your pride in the Squaxin Island Tribe and its government.
• The only way democracy works is if its citizens, young and old, are active participants.
• Our Indian Country is a beacon of liberty for the rest of the world. Stand up and be counted!
• A government, by the people, for the people, just can’t work without you.

Come cast your voice with your vote

Saturday, May 6th at the General Body meeting

This is the day of our democracy!! Every vote counts!

Come early to meet your elected Council leaders and/or your representatives running for a Council position. They will serve in the highest capacity, representing you in making informed decisions on current issues which impact our tomorrow.
Hello Squaxin family, my name is Kristopher (Kris) Klabsch Peters. I have been privileged serving the past three years as Council Chair, and I would be pleased to continue serving you in this position.

I am the middle son of Michael and Linda Peters, grandson of the late Emory and Ruth Peters, and great-grandson of the late Jameson Peters and Josephine Bagley Peters. I grew up on Eld Inlet (sʔayai) next door to my beloved great-grandmother, Josephine.

I was raised with a public service mindset, first receiving my Eagle Scout as a young boy, transitioning to an early career in fire fighting, and followed by 20 years in criminal justice. I have always been motivated to better myself and help those around me. I served our community as Police Chief after earning my degree in Native American History and Federal Indian Law.

Upon graduating with my master’s in public administration, I served as your Tribal Administrator, then as Tribal Liaison for the Department of Children, Youth, and Families for Washington State.

I was honored to return to Squaxin as your Chair and have worked hard to create a healthy and functional working environment starting at the top. I pride myself on running efficient, professional council meetings, valuing all perspectives, and guiding us toward decisions that benefit all members. Transparency is important to me. I do not participate in “closed-door” decision-making and strongly advocate access to all meetings be provided both in person and online.

I am passionate about education, environmental rights, and healthcare. We must lift our youth and equip them to lead our future. We must continue to celebrate our language and our culture and pass down the teachings given to us by our Elders. We must fight to restore our habitats, uphold our treaties, and establish food sovereignty. We must improve access to quality healthcare and heal the trauma of our past to create a brighter future for generations to come.

I have spent time speaking to schools, organizations, and other governments about our history and educating others about our traditional homelands. I have met with local, state, and federal officials, fighting to strengthen Squaxin sovereignty, maintain our treaty rights, and secure state and federal funding.

I do not shy away from controversy or difficulty. I know how to bring people together and facilitate healthy debate. I lead with honesty, compassion, and integrity — values necessary for facing challenging situations and creating positive change.

If re-elected, I will continue to support our council, providing accountability and equal and consistent service to everyone.

Please reach out and engage with me on the issues that impact you the most. Join the Klabsch 2023 group on Facebook or email me directly at Kpeters@squaxin.us.

Please vote for Kris Peters at the General Body meeting on May 6, 2023.

Running for Council Member #1

Andy Whitener, Incumbent
Hello Squaxin,

As many of you know, my name is Andy Whitener and I am running for re-election for position of Council Member #1.

Our Tribe needs strong leadership and a clear vision for the future, a vision that will move us towards success. I have spent 23 years serving in various Council positions building my skills to represent you as your elected official.

I have dedicated my entire life to the Squaxin People, ensuring our Sovereign Rights through my work at Natural Resources, beginning back when I was a young Fish Technician and through practicing our Treaty Rights as an avid fisherman, shellfish harvester, and geoduck diver. I steadily worked my way through the ranks to become the Director of Natural Resources. This has taught me perseverance and allowed me to gain extensive knowledge regarding our Tribal Policies and Cultural Practices.

As the Tribe moves into the future, we need to be prepared. We know it is impossible to come up with a one-size-fits-all solution. If I’m re-elected to Council, I will continue to focus on infrastructure opportunities and support our economic entities as they diversify into sustainable revenue for our people.

With my leadership and decision-making skills, I wish to represent you with thoughtful, unbiased, and rational decisions that will prove to be beneficial to us all.

Today, I once again ask for your vote and your confidence in my experience, knowledge, and stability to GET THE JOB DONE!

Thank you for your consideration.

Running for Council Member #2

Davey Whitener, Incumbent

Hi, for those who don’t know me, my name is Davey Whitener, and I am currently your Council Member, position #2.

I grew up in Kamilche until we moved to Neah Bay, where I spent my high school years.

I have been a fisherman, clam digger and geoduck diver and still fish and dive.

I have been fortunate to have garnered a broad level of experience over the course of my career. As an example, I have been a tribal police officer and deputy sheriff; served as Director of Island Enterprises, Inc.; was employed in Alaska as a business and government consultant; worked in construction and have been a member of the Operating Engineers and Pipe Fitters Unions at different stages of my work career. I also have IT experience and have worked for the Tribe in that capacity, plus a couple stints at NR at different times of my life.

While not a complete list, I think this will give you an idea of my work background and breadth of experience that I feel serves me well in my role as a Council person.

I have a passion for business and economic development and see it as an essential piece to support us being a self sufficient and self governing people.

I thank you for your trust and the opportunity I have had to be on Council for the last six years, and hope that you allow me to continue to serve.

Thank you!
Running for Council Member #1

Bev Hawks
Hi!
I’m running for Tribal Council Position #1.
I’d like your support. I’ve been active in our community for decades, since 1981 when I moved here. I sat along with Lorna Gouin doing Community Board Training when we had no laws or ordinances to bring some type of justice to the Rez. Later, we met with Judge Tallus to set up laws and ordinances and the speed limit, too. I assisted in setting up the preschool with other moms and Eleanor Krise. I also wrote a lot of grants while at SPIPA.
I’m very interested in mental health and the social structure in the Tribe. Our services need to change and adapt to our needs.
I’d like to bring another female voice to the table as well.
Thank you for your time and consideration.

Jeremie Walls
Good day to all my Squaxin Tribal members!
As we get close to General Body, and after a lot of soul searching and talking with others, I have decided to go ahead and announce my candidacy for Council Seat #1.
With our economic development in our forefront, we also need to think about our community development. I have felt, like others, that our community is being left behind. Water rights issues are around the corner, according to our administration. So now is a great time to start planning our next phase (25 homes) of housing opportunities. So far we have not seen any push for housing for those who want to come home.
A good friend once told me we live in a village, not on a reservation. A village, he said, is where one chooses to live with family and friends, and not somewhere where we are kept like prisoners or cattle. I have to agree with him whole-heartedly; this is our home.
I would like to propose not just a low-income subdivision, but also medium income and low-income mixed neighborhoods. It’s already shown in many housing studies that mixed income neighborhoods thrive. Many Squaxins are no longer low income. With housing shortages in our county, it is only smart to provide more opportunities here at home for those who would like to be closer to our tribal families and entities. Just think about flat rate medium income housing, something we all could afford and pay off.
We were also given the idea of an outdoor recreation area for sports/outdoor community activities, and maybe even bring back Sah-Heh-Wa-Mish Days out back to allow vendors and camping. This would be a real community event for all to enjoy here at home. It also could help develop and facilitate a host spot for future Canoe Journeys.
You have heard me beat my drum about our youth. I will continue to beat that drum for all of our youth and families until we are heard. It’s not right our youth have to join other neighboring tribal teams. We should have more organized sports close to home. We need to bring back these lost opportunities asap. Baseball and softball practices have already begun and tournaments are already being played. Basketball is almost over, and all of our kids deserve to play. I am not saying we do not have a great Parks and Rec Department, I am saying there are some pieces missing. I see Boys and Girls Clubs in our neighboring tribes flourishing and providing great opportunities. These clubs are not run by the tribes. They are standalone nonprofits that work with the tribes to provide help with implementation. Their logo is a handshake; it’s there to complement the existing program, not to compete.
In the last two years of not being on Tribal Council, I have seen something. I have seen the word transparency turn into more of a myth. I would like to propose we work on communication. We, as elected officials, do not make decisions for you, but on behalf of you. That means, to me, that as an elected official, I must do my diligence in communicating what we are doing and soliciting what input you might have as a tribal member. I have found, in my term serving on Tribal Council, that you all have a lot to offer us in ideas. We should welcome, with professional courtesy, the advice of our Elders so we don’t repeat problems from the past, but rather find direction for the future as a tribe united.
So that being said, I would like to ask you for your support for me to be your eyes, ears, and voice at our highest level. I will always put you first.
Thank you!
Jeremie Walls
Respect and have kindness toward the election process

We must encourage every eligible voter to participate in the electoral process with respect and kindness. Young people are the future who will support all the generations before them. Let’s be an example with respect and with kindness.

The Election Committee

The Election Committee’s primary responsibility is to conduct a fair and legal election process.

They worked extensively for the last few months to produce the forums for candidates to explain who they are and why they are running.

The candidate’s forums in March and April, hosted by the Election Committee and the administration team, are designed to educate you on who the candidates are. The forums help you freshen up on the incumbents, as well as the candidates who made early announcements that they would be running for certain positions.

Elections Committee members are appointed by the Tribal Council. At the start of the year, the committee members internally elect their officers.

The General Body meetings are organized and facilitated by tribal administration at the request of the sitting Council Chairman who has the authority to ask the Administrator to conduct the meeting.

The Election Committee assists with planning the meetings, with their focus on overseeing the election process.

To make the election process as efficient as possible, and to eliminate any potential conflicts of interest, the Election Committee hires an outside consultant each year to print and record ballot counts.

Candidate representatives, the Election Committee members, and tribal law enforcement supervise the ballot counting.

Over the last month, the construction crew has been hard at work on the Tumwater project. The most notable difference is the siding on the main building. The siding was stained and it has made such a difference! Now that the major stages of construction are mostly completed, they have started working on the smaller details, not seen from the road. They are currently working on the flooring, installing cabinets, and finishing up the painting. We are very impressed with the progress of the project so far!

Homework Helper
Hi, my name is Trent Brown, and I have been hired as a Homework Helper with the Learning Center.

I like to go hunting with my grandparents and, you know, go in the wilderness and hang out.

One thing I am most excited about is getting to work at a place I spent growing up, which is pretty cool.

I am looking forward to working with the Tribe more.

Womens History Month
The Squaxin Museum celebrated the month of March for the Women’s History Month, hosting four events of empowerment for all Women Warriors.

The first gathering was held March 8th. We shared a meal for lunch while watching a video featuring Tonia Jo Hall, aka Auntie Beachress, as she shared her wellness journey story and her work to “reach out to all my people; teach them to smile, think positively, and spread laughter.” After the video, Lisa Johns engaged participants about being aware of personal surroundings, and being vigilant in protection of oneself and family.

The second event was an event called the Muscle Up The x̌e luncheon on March 14th, with Kimberly Miller, Skokomish cultural leader, who spoke of “Salish Muscle Up the Hutch.” She shared wonderful Salish knowledge on how to utilize built-in ability to have confidence using instinct (hutch) to navigate through life and tough times. The take home message for women was, “Don’t just walk in the rain, you will get wet. If you walk in the rain, walk with purpose and ask the Creator to wash away your stress and wash you with strength.”

The event on March 22nd was the Indigenous Women Empowerment lunch with Charlene Abrahamson, respected Spokane Tribal wellness teacher. She facilitated discussions on speaking up for yourself, forgiving yourself, and the topic of historic trauma.

March 27th was the Five Meals Family Food Workshop that was an empowerment through food and how food can bring a sense of wellbeing. Participants were given recipes and ingredients to prepare each item, such as: deep fried cauliflower, four bean soup, quinoa burrito bowl, berry breakfast quinoa bowl with coconut milk, fry bread kits and stir fry chicken. Elise Krohn, M.ED. educator-herbalist, was an invited guest to share brief presentations on the different teas for stress, strengthening the immune system, and anti-inflammation. A station to make take home packets for participants was made possible by Elise.

The classes were a great success!

The Squaxin Museum can’t express enough gratitude to the Powerful Women who did the lunch presentations and all the Mighty Women Warriors who attended our Women’s History Month activities.

Bordeaux
Tamika Krise - Hey guys! We are back with another Bordeaux Bulldog update! Spring is over and we are back diving into the rest of our school year.

Coming up we have some state testing. I want to encourage our students to attend school as much as possible; this way they can prepare themselves the best they can before the testing. Getting a good night’s rest before testing as well as starting the day off in a good way always helps anyone before a big test day! I know it is getting closer to the end of the school year and the sun is shining, which always makes it harder to be in a classroom all day. I want to encourage families to get our students to school every day and on time! If you are a family struggling with your students’ attendance, reach out and let us know if there is anything we can do to help! As we are talking about all of our Bordeaux Bulldogs, READING LOGS! READING LOGS! READING LOGS! Only twenty minutes a day and our students will get better at reading. A lot of classes, and the school itself, have some awesome incentive plans. The kids can earn some cool opportunities by reading and logging it.

Here are some things the kiddos are learning about, so our families know what to be practicing with them at home . . . Third graders are eligible to become a Math Wizard by learning their 1-12 multiplication facts. They should have multiplication cards they made at school to practice whenever they want. We can always make more, and we can practice with your student at Homework Help at the Tu Ha’ Buts Learning Center.

Fourth Graders are learning about fractions/learning to understand parts of things, and being able to add, subtract, and multiply with fractions.

As for our younger grades, practicing their basic math problems is always good . . . addition, subtraction, and grouping, etc.

Third and fourth graders have been mastering some more in-depth writing techniques and getting deep into their storytelling. All of our grades are always working on reading skills, practicing their site words, and more. Reading out loud is very beneficial, and finding reads that they are interested in can help anyone and everyone’s reading skills improve. One last thing about reading and writing, April is poetry month! Poems are fun to read and write! Maybe poems are for your kiddo!

Lastly, I want to do some shout outs! We have two fourth graders who earned a Student Manager badge. This badge represents a lot of things; it shows that these students are responsible, independent, reliable, and very trustworthy. With this badge, students are allowed to use the restroom without having to ask. They can walk to lunch on their own without having to wait in line with their class. They must, however, maintain their behavior and always remain respectful and responsible. I think it is an awesome opportunity to show our students that making the right choices can take them places! That being said, a huge congratulations to Mayella Roberts and Lahai’la Greenwood! Great job girls!

Tribal and State Citizens Meet at WA State Town Hall
Aberdeen, WA, March 25

Numerous citizens of the Grays Harbor community attended a Town Hall meeting held in Aberdeen. Topics discussed included: 1) controversial Legislative issues and matters of community health and well-being; 2) Homeless persons’ health, safety, and welfare issues, such as food (including EBT), clothing, shelter, mental and physical health; 3) those persons seeking to access benefits and relocation to the United State of America for a better quality of life from other countries.
Olympic Middle School
Kiana Wily -

Spring Time Transitions

It has been a busy springtime as the last semester is quickly passing by. Olympic Middle School administration and staff have been working to get and keep our sixth graders, who are soon to be junior high students, on track to move along their education journeys, as well as prepare the fifth graders to enter their last year here at OMS. We had our final parent-teacher conferences for the year. Our students were thankful for their week of half days, which included a fun Spirit Week and book fair. It was so fun to see the cute and creative ways the kids showed out for the different Spirit Week days. Jayda Hawks killed it for her Decades Day with a super awesome 80s look! A week of spring break followed shortly after conference week, and it was a break we all definitely needed. Our students returned with lots of energy and counting down their days till summer. Our OMS leadership spent the first week back from break welcoming in the fourth graders from each elementary school in the district, giving them each a couple hours to get a glimpse of what to expect from the school they’ll be attending next year. Ms. Brady gave a presentation on our school, what it has to offer, and the expectations we have here, along with a tour and a few activities. I can’t wait to meet and get to know all the new kiddos coming in next year.

New Principal

Our principal, Ms. Chelsea Brady, has let us all know that after five years of being Olympic Middle School’s principal, this will be her final year here with us. She will be moving on to new opportunities at the Shelton School District Office as Director of 7-12 Grade Curriculum. Our new principal will be Ms. Mary Johnson, who is coming over from her long-time position as the Mt. View principal. Ms. Johnson and Ms. Brady won’t be moving to their new positions until the start of the 23/24 school year, but Ms. Johnson will be coming over this spring, so we can all get a chance to meet our new principal. Change can be difficult, but it also can bring opportunities for great new things! Ms. Chappell and I are hopeful and looking forward to continuing Native Ed and what new chances we may get to grow the program next year.

Shout out to Wyatt Wentworth!

Student of the Trimester awards were given out for trimester two, and one of the recipients of the awards was our very own, Wyatt Wentworth! It was a fun week of celebrating students, lining the halls, and cheering for fellow classmates as they walked back to class after getting their certificates. We are so proud of Wyatt! He is one of the many amazing students at OMS, and we are so glad he could get recognized. Let’s finish the year off strong everyone!
Oakland Bay Junior High
Caleb Kinzner - Hello all, there is only one full month of the school year left here at OBJH. Every student is trying their best and have come a long way from the beginning of the year. I talk a lot about trying to build academic habits. I feel as if the students are building those skills and will only continue to flourish.

The 8th graders are already anxiously awaiting high school. After having picked out their classes and with the orientation coming up, it's only a matter of time before they start their high school experience.

I do ask that you please continue to keep up on students’ homework. The leading cause of failing or struggling grades has been a lack of homework. We still have plenty of work to do, but the progress from the beginning of the year is evident. We had students recognized in the second trimester for being above the 1st trimester average. I hope that this trend continues.

We had a trip to Quileute for a ceremony, and I was able to bring two students. They both had a great time. Will and Nyelli were both great role models and learned a lot about another tribes’ ceremonies.

A student that I would like to recognize is Will Weythman. He has had outstanding grades the entire year and is loved by everyone. Will has been amazing in every aspect of the word. He cannot go anywhere in the school without a teacher or student trying to talk to him. He is loved by every teacher and this has allowed him to keep up his great grades. I am extremely confident that he will succeed in high school, and I could not be more proud.

Spring Break
Keesha Vigil Snook - Hello Squaxin Fam! This month was a great way to start spring for the teens. They got to hang out with Will Henderson and his staff at Natural Resources learning about what they do at the fish pens. They also learned that morning boat rides are really cold!

We had a crowd of kids join us for spring break cultural crafting. The youth wove cedar fans, created medicine bags, did beading, made mini-button blankets and more. It was a wonderful week to craft with the kids and have a chance to bond outside of school.

Be on the lookout for announcements about the Stepping Stones program and the Summer Roots program very soon! We are so excited to hang out with all the youth this summer. We will be sending out invites to volunteer to help us offer the youth traditional teachings!

Since Time Immemorial
Presentation

Keesha Vigil Snook presented the Since Time Immemorial video, created by Squaxin youth in partnership with SkyBear Media, to the Secondary Education and Pathway Preparation Division meeting in the old capital building in April. The participants work in secondary education all over the state of Washington. They will be working towards utilizing the video in their Since Time Immemorial curriculum throughout the Puget Sound area. Keesha did an excellent job of explaining how her own experience in learning history in school did not provide knowledge relevant to Coast Salish people. It is important to Keesha that our students get to see their own history when learning about Native history. Hopefully this video, and others to follow, will begin to bridge that gap.

Way to go Keesh!!

Shelton High

Isabelle LeClair - Hello Hello Hello everybody! SHS students, as we know, the school year is ending, I just want to make sure folks are aware of some important dates coming up for our senior class!

Button Robe Ceremony: Friday, May 19th @ 5:30 p.m., which will be held in the SUB @ SHS

Kasia Seymour -
On Saturday, April 1st, we held our annual youth Easter egg hunt from 10:00-11:00 a.m. We hosted the 0-4 year-old age group inside the gym at 10:15 a.m. and the littles were so adorable to see! For ages 5-8, the egg hunt was held in the park playground right after the babies’ hunt. The 5-8-year-olds had a blast and finished pretty quickly. The 9-12 year-old hunt was held at T’peeksin Park at 10:45 a.m. The older youth had a great time and they were super quick. Madison and Roklyn were the winners for the gift cards.

Monday’s in April we had plant teachings and the April focus was maple. The youth got to go on a nature walk, gather maple leaves and do their own leaf rubbing water color art while learning from Seed to Maple Tree: Following the Life Cycle (Amazing Science: Life Cycles).

On Tuesday’s in April we had an on-going cultural activity of making drums. The youth got to make drums and paint them after they had dried for a day. They made some great drums.

Spring Break was April 3rd through April 6th, and the youth had a really great time. We played basketball, soccer, and Capture the Flag. The youth painted on their drums and painted some sea creatures on canvases. The youth also made slime stress balls. The stress ball part didn’t work out, so we got to get messy instead! It was fun.

Saturday’s in April were open gym from 2:00 p.m. - 5 :00 p.m. with Sara and Billie. Some youth and teens came up to use the gym and shoot around.

On Wednesday, April 12th, the kids were able to paint some awesome glowing sea creatures for art walk.

On Thursday, April 13th, the youth made Easter cupcake cones with Kenna and Sara. Those turned out so delicious. Cooking is always a fun and popular activity for the youth!

On Wednesday, April 26th, we made edible dirt cups with gummy worms inside! The kids smashed Oreo cookies in a bag filled their cups with pudding and created a small “dirt cup” for their gummy worm. Yum!

On Thursday, April 27th, we taught the youth how to make frybread. They really enjoyed kneading the dough and making the frybread in their hands, but we helped them fry it - Safety First! Each youth got to make and eat their frybread. Awesome kneading skills guys!

We had some youth get Top Dog in March, way to go, Alexis Wentworth, Cashai Blueback Robin, insson, and Natalia Krise!! Great job to all students and keep up the great work.

Please Stay tuned for Summer R.O.O.T.S calendars and sign ups! All dates and times will be posted on the aRemind app, Daily Scoop, Parks & Rec Facebook page, and monthly youth activities calendar.

During Early Releases for Griffin and Shelton school districts, we will be open early! We open as the buses arrive. We post the times on our calendars!

Spring Is Here!
April After School Activities
Welcoming of the Whales Ceremony
Jaimie Cruz - Six Squaxin youth and the Student Advocates were able to attend the Welcoming of the Whales Ceremony in La Push, Washington on March 31st.

We started our journey to the land of the Quileute on Thursday evening and stopped by Beach 1 for sunset pictures. It was heartwarming watching the youth skip rocks and take selfies on the beach after a long few hours in the car. For some of the youth, this was their first time on Washington’s coast.

We finally got to our cabins late evening and the youth crashed hard. We woke up to the beautiful view of the ocean and prepared ourselves to go to the ceremony at 10:00 a.m. Of course, what would a trip with kids be without a few mishaps. After an eventful morning checking out of our cabin and getting the teens loaded, we made our way to the beach to catch a glimpse of the ceremony. Very similar to our First Salmon Ceremony, members of the tribe and community gather with the youth to hand down teachings and allow them to honor the whales.

The weather was beautiful, and the youth were able to see firsthand youth from the Quileute practicing their culture through ceremony. We witnessed the youth bring an offering into the ocean and sing their songs on the beach. Mother Nature gave us a beautiful morning then hit us with a heavy downpour. After the initial ceremony, our Squaxin crew looked like we took a dip in the ocean; we were not as prepared as we thought for the rain and wind. We followed the rest of the crowd to the Akalat Center to share songs and dances. The tribal school students invited the youth attending to dance with them, Ana Piñon and Kiona Krise were loaned shawls to participate. We gifted the Elders and youth with canned elk, necklaces, and Indian tea to thank them for the invitation. Our youth helped clean up tables, serve Elders, and offered tea and coffee to Elders. Our hands are raised to Miss Ann Penn-Charles for giving our youth a few lessons on etiquette at the ceremony and including them throughout the day. When you see one of the 6 that attended, ask them what they will remember about their experience! We look forward to attending next year and appreciate the opportunity for this experience.
Spring at the Child Development Center

Kaitlyn Krug - Squaxin Island Child Development Center hosted our annual egg drop. Egg drop is a STEAM activity, where we encourage our students to create a protective barrier out of recycled items for a raw egg. Then we all gather outside the center and drop the students’ eggs from off the top of the ladder and we see who survived the fall. STEAM stands for science, technology, engineering, art, and math and it encourages scientific thinking, observation skills, analyzing, and predicting outcomes.

We celebrated spring break with Spirit Week. Monday was hat day and many of our classrooms created and decorated their own hats. Tuesday was tourist day and students were encouraged to share where they would like to go on vacation. On this day the River Otter room decorated paper suitcases with magazine pictures of vacation destinations. Raven room students made and decorated toilet paper roll binoculars. Wednesday was a fan favorite, pajama day and the egg drop.

To end this fun short spring break week, we had a center-wide dance party in the foyer. The dance moves ranged from gentle sways to full on grooving to the music. Even though the dance party only lasted about fifteen minutes in the foyer, the temperature raised a few degrees and lots of smiles were present.
Black Bears

Squaxin Island Child Development Center’s Black Bear classroom is springing into action! The Black Bears put their helpful hands to work cleaning and preparing garden beds on March 22nd to begin the planting season. They planted garden starts of dill, cilantro, and basil inside their classroom at the beginning of this month. Planning a garden, planting the seeds, and watching them grow promotes responsibility and fosters a sense of purpose in our students. In addition, time in the garden cultivates team building and promotes communication skills. They then took advantage of the nice weather by soaking in the natural vitamin D and had a cozy picnic with friends on blankets in front of the center. It is essential for children to get outside and absorb natural Vitamin D for strong bones and strengthening immune systems, especially after the dark winter months. This is why it is important to take advantage of the nice days and get outside.

Tree Frogs

On March 27th, the Tree Frog room kids participated in a literacy and fine motor activity. Savannah Raham, Lead Teacher, created name boards and cut out all of the children’s letters. This activity promotes letter recognition and fine motor skills. The children enjoyed this activity, and some students even aided their friends in finding the letters and matching them up.

Coyotes

The Coyote classroom kids enjoyed exploring the forest. Prior to going out, Shannon Skillman, Lead Teacher, and Shaelynn Clark, Lead Teacher, discussed the weather for the day and how layers are used to keep our bodies warm and dry in early spring in the Pacific Northwest. While exploring in the woods, we looked for insects and found a worm. The students observed how it moves and what it feels like. The students got to observe the creek from the bridge and learn about the cedar trees.

River Otters

In the River Otter room, Helen Tinaza, Lead Teacher, and Trinity Fosdick, Assistant Teacher Trainee, both applied for a “Pets in the Classroom Grant” and received it. This grant supports teachers to enrich students’ educational and personal development through interaction with pets in their classroom. The grant provides financial support to teachers to purchase and maintain small animals in the classroom. The classroom now has a bearded Dragon, “Remy”, and a Leopard Gecko, “Gilbert.” The River Otter students took part in suggesting names and then they each got to vote on the names suggested. Since Gilbert and Remy have joined the classroom, the children have been able to observe the reptiles grow and shed their skin. Students are excited to learn facts about their classroom pets and are strengthening social skills through pet observations and discussions. Pets in the classroom facilitate responsibility, empathy, and compassion.
Elders Bake Sale
Squaxin Elders’ baked foods sale was a huge success!!! Thanks to ALL who helped in so many ways. We won’t even attempt to name them all.

Loving thanks to all Elders for baking some amazing goodies; Tribal staff for transporting tables to and from; KTP store employees for helping set up canopies, tables, banners, and balloons; Museum staff for letting Elders use the Visitor Center to store things and for donating two baskets for the raffle; Brooks Farrell for coming in on his day off to be our Easter bunny; Elders who came down to assist during the sale; of course, to all community members, family, and friends who also baked goodies; and to all who bought goodies.

A special shout out to Mark Jones for his donation of $200 for one of Darlene’s carrot cakes!!! Wow!

We appreciate you all so much!! Thank you!

Sincerely,
Co-Chairs of this event and Elders Coordinator

SPIPA WIC shares the Importance of Lead Testing

Ask your Doctor if Your Child Needs Lead Testing

Why should your child be tested for lead?
If lead gets into your child, it can cause brain and kidney damage, as well as make it hard for your child to learn, pay attention, and behave properly.

Even small amounts of lead can hurt your child, so it is important to find out if your child should be tested.

Most children who have lead poisoning do not look or act sick. A blood test is the only way to tell if your child has been exposed to lead.

Federal Law mandates that all children enrolled in Apple Health/ Medicaid are required to get blood test at ages 1 year (12 months) and 2 years (24 months).

For more information on lead, contact doh.wa.gov/lead or call 1.800.309.9898 or ask your WIC clinic staff

Squaxin Island Tribe - Klah-Che-Min Newsletter - May 2023 - Page 22
By Kimy Peterson and Kyle Ferguson - The Covid-19 pandemic has changed our lives a great deal. Before 2020, it was hard to picture a day-to-day life without face-to-face contact, working from home, and Zoom meetings. When businesses closed and people stayed home, it was easy for them to use their digital media devices to find new ways to connect with other people, get work done, and have fun. People, especially kids, were scrolling through Facebook and Tiktok for social interaction. Streaming videos from Netflix, Hulu, and YouTube replaced going to the movies. Kids "went to school" by signing into a video classroom.

Now that we’re back at work and our kids are back in school, we’re starting to see a sad truth: all the time we spent plugged in over the past few years has made it hard to unplug and relax. Even before the pandemic, doctors and researchers were growing more worried about the health of children who spent too much time in front of screens. In 2019, one study found that 95% of youth owned a smartphone.

Do you know what FOMO means? It stands for “Fear of Missing Out,” and it’s one reason why kids and teens use social media and other digital media apps all the time. Kids and teens spend a lot of time looking at the content on their phones instead of doing things that are good for their physical and mental health, like getting enough sleep or exercise. It also increases the risk of depression, anxiety, and sleep problems.

The National Sleep Foundation says that little kids in school should sleep 9–11 hours a night, and teenagers should sleep 8–10 hours a night. Children may not get the enough sleep because they spend too much time in front of a screen at night.

Researchers have found that the blue light from screens can sometimes make it harder to fall asleep or wake up in the morning. This is because the blue light from screens is like natural daytime light. Screens on phones, tablets, computers, and TVs all give off blue light, which can strain our eyes and change how we sleep and wake up.

Unwind

There is no perfect way to stop blue light from keeping kids up at night, but parents can help their kids practice good sleep hygiene to lessen the effect. These things can be part of good sleep hygiene, but they can be changed as needed:

• Creating a nighttime wind-down routine
• Keeping phones out of reach to reduce the urge to scroll in bed
• Keeping TVs and computers out of bedroom or turned off
• Using the tools on mobile phones to manage screen time (Apple IOS has settings for digital health and scheduling down-time and Chronicle is a useful app that is available for Android via the Google Play app store)
• Creating a family media plan: https://www.healthychildren.org/English/media/Pages/default.aspx

Parents can help their kids find a place to relax after a long day of being plugged in by giving them tools like these.
Health and Human Services

Do you know the signs of a stroke?
By Rachel Espanto, BSN, RN - Native Americans have the highest stroke-related death of any other race in the United States. When the blood flow to the brain is interrupted, it causes a stroke and can lead to death or other serious disabilities. It is important to know the signs to be able to get help in a timely manner. Time is very important when it comes to treating a stroke.

Act F.A.S.T and save a life!
The American Heart Association list:

1. F = Face Drooping – Does one side of the face droop or is it numb?
   - Ask the person to smile. Is the person’s smile uneven?
2. A = Arm Weakness – Is one arm weak or numb?
   - Ask the person to raise both arms. Does one arm drift downward?
3. S = Speech Difficulty – Is speech slurred?
4. T = Time to call 911

Some other signs of a stroke include, numbness, weakness, confusion, trouble seeing, and trouble walking.

There are changes that a person can make in their every day life to decrease their risk of stroke. Eat more food low in fat and high in fiber. Get at least 30 minutes of activity a day - walking, dancing, jogging. Limit alcohol use and stop smoking commercial tobacco.

If you have any concerns about your risk for stroke, please schedule an annual exam with your family doctor to discuss your options in more detail.

The ABCDE of Detecting Skin Cancer

- A = Asymmetry
  - If spot or lesion does not look the same all around or is not symmetrical

- B = Border
  - Jagged or uneven borders to a lesion or spot on the skin

- C = Diameter
  - Spots or lesions bigger than a pencil eraser

- E = Evolving
  - Anything that is growing or changing should be looked at by a medical professional

- D = Diameter

It’s not a myth! American Indians can get skin cancer!
Skin cancer is largely preventable, and if caught early, it’s usually curable. Since most skin cancers are linked to sun exposure, it’s important to take precautions when spending time outdoors, no matter what time of year. Too much sun can increase your risk for skin cancer and lead to premature skin aging.

We can do our part by getting enough rest, eating healthy foods, regulating stress, and avoiding unhealthy habits such as smoking. We can cleanse our skin regularly, moisturize often, and apply sunscreen as needed.

Tips for Preventing Skin Cancer (Melanoma)
1. Prevent a sunburn by using SPF 30 or higher and wear protective clothing.
2. Seek shade when possible to avoid UV exposure.
3. Use a daily moisturizer with SPF for your face, ears and back of neck.
4. Don’t use tanning beds or sunlamps. They emit the same harmful UV radiation as the sun.
5. Reduce stress.
6. Get enough sleep.
7. Speak up.

Spring into Action

Spring is here…!!! Which means the days get longer and the temperature gets warmer. It is a time of anew in nature and self after a long, cold winter of hibernation. Sort of hibernation… where we lounge around the house to avoid the cold and eat for comfort.

Furthermore, spring provides an array of fruits and vegetables and the warmer weather gives the opportunity to get out of the house and enjoy the benefits of physical activity.

Eating a balanced diet and physical activity are important, both for weight loss and maintaining overall health. The 2018 Physical Activity Guidelines for Americans recommend adults engage in a minimum of 2 ½ to 5 hours each week of moderate-intensity aerobic activity or 75 to 150 minutes of vigorous-intensity activity a week.

Examples of moderate-intensity aerobic activities include:
- Walking (3 ½ miles per hour)
- Water aerobics
- Bicycling
- General yard work

Examples of vigorous-intensity activities include:
- Speed walking (4 ½ mph)
- Jogging, running (5 mph)
- Bicycling (10 mph)
- Swimming laps

When increasing your level of aerobic activity, first decide which activities you enjoy and can set into your daily schedule. If you are starting from little or no daily physical exercise, check with your doctor before starting a new physical exercise routine.

Let’s not forget strength-building exercise! It is recommended that adults do muscle-strengthening - such as weight lifting, resistance training (or heavy gardening) - or any activities that incorporate all major muscle groups at least twice a week.

Keep in mind that nutrition plays an important role in your physical activity. Having a well-balanced diet that includes protein, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals, and water is supportive in physical activity.
