- E. The Tribe and NICS agree that the administrative fee and any difference between the hourly rate billed for judicial services and the rate actually paid to the judges represent compensation to NICS in lieu of direct fees and charges the Tribe would otherwise have to pay to NICS as compensation for NICS' staff time and employee benefits; rent and utilities; computer and telecommunications equipment and services; office supplies; actual costs for expenses such as long-distance telephone and fax charges, telephonic hearings and conference calls, postage, copying, etc.; bookkeeping, accounting and other professional services; and other overhead and costs associated with maintaining the staffing and infrastructure necessary to operate a court of appeals in a timely and effective manner.

VII. Publication of Appellate Court Opinions

The Tribe and NICS agree that NICS may publish opinions and orders of the Tribe's Court of Appeals in print and electronic format consistent with any relevant provisions of the tribal code and consistent with NICS' policies and practices regarding publication of opinions and orders from other tribal courts of appeal administered by NICS.

VIII. Termination

This Agreement may be terminated by either party by giving twenty (20) calendar days written notice to the other party. Notice shall be sufficiently given if it is delivered by hand or certified mail, return receipt requested, postage pre-paid, to the address of the other party as set forth in the first paragraph of this Agreement. Unless mutually agreed, termination shall not cancel or otherwise affect the scope of work and responsibilities of either party as they apply to cases that the Tribe has submitted to NICS under this agreement prior to the other party's receipt of a notice of termination. The Tribe agrees to pay for all services and expenses under this contract, as defined in Section VI above, incurred prior to and including the date of termination of this contract, and all services and expenses as defined in Section V above, including such post-termination expenses and services as are necessary to enable NICS to render a final disposition of any cases or other matters commenced prior to termination of this contract.

IX. Waiver

Any waiver by any party with regard to any of its rights hereunder shall be in writing and shall not constitute to act as a waiver to any future rights that such party might have.
